environment as exterior, as backdrop to human drama and as endless resource. Current geopolitics require new images to hold new metaphors, to describe the more than human, to imagine new relationships. The backgrou