terraterraterra re-imagines the tropes and images that render landscape and the environment as exterior, as backdrop to human drama and to reality-tourism. Current geopolitics require new images to hold new metaphors, to describe the more than human, to imagine new relationships. The background is now fore
GERHARD MARX